

About Justin Fast Read

A short route through the governing posture behind the site.

Best use

- Use this guide when someone wants the governing posture without wading through biography first.
- Use it to understand how the site is supposed to think: practical first, measurable, child-centered, and receipt-backed.
- Use the public-work pages next when biography is not the main question.

Read order

- 1. About orientation
- 2. By purpose
- 3. Measured proof
- 4. Service standard
- 5. Execution accountability

Pair with

- Dashboard for the flagship public overview
- Family Platform for the site architecture
- Open Letter for the sharper personal starting point
- Standards for the public rules

Reminder

- This page should explain posture and standard. The public record should still live on the dashboard, sources, tracker, and practical family-help pages.